More than any other tank of World War II, the German tiger tank installed fear in the hearts of Allied soldiers when it entered a battlefield. With almost impenetrable armor and a highly accurate 88mm main gun, they earned the respect they were rightly given. with a combat weight of over sixty tons, these tanks were among the most massive in the wear, easily able to destroy any Allied tanks they encountered. this book will take an inside look at the brute force design of the Tiger I tank, built with the larges pieces of plate armor that could be made.
